

2025-2026

ENGLISH FOR TEACHING PURPOSES

Course for university lecturers to be able to teach in English. The course cover linguistic, pragmatic, communicative, methodological, pedagogical, motivational and strategic aspects that are considered important for teaching university classes in English. The course focuses on the teachers' oral discourse, both in terms of the formal academic presentations and informal classroom interaction. The sessions are practical and encourage participants to be actively involved in producing and adapting teaching support materials appropriate to their needs.

You can consult the English for Teaching Purposes MOOC online material.

Aimed at

Academic staff (UAB) who teach subjects in English or who want to do so in the near future.

Level required

Level 5 of the Language Service passed (B2.2 of the CEFR) or equivalent.

Calendar and timetable

First course offered: from 15th to 29th September, from Mondays to Thursdays, 14.30pm to 5pm.

Second course offered: 9.2.2026 to 11.3.2026, Mondays and Wednesdays, 3pm to 5pm (this course will be taught live online, by videoconference).

Duration

20 classroom hours + 10 autonomous learning hours.

Information of interest

- This course is free for PDI at the UAB.
- Registration for only one edition is allowed.
- Maximum number of students per group is 15. The Language Service reserves the right to cancel group which do not meet the minimum number of students enrolled.
- To take a level test or obtain more information about the course please contact the Language Service or look at our website.